Website Updates
I’ve been working to revamp the town’s website (www.gillmass.org) lately and I’m looking for new content. During the month of August the site had 503 new visitors and 332 returning! I’ve added some local businesses, so please let me know if I left yours out. I’d also like to include a list of local authors, artists, musicians and more pictures of your beautiful farms and gardens. Please contact me if you have any information you’d like me to include on the site, or any ideas for sprucing it up.

Broadcast Digital TV Transition Coming-February 17, 2009
As a result of congressional action, full-power over-the-air broadcast stations such as ABC, CBS, NBC, Fox and PBS will convert to all-digital broadcasting effective February 17, 2009. The switch from analog to digital broadcast television, referred to as the Broadcast Digital Television (DTV) Transition, is designed to free up a large portion of the valuable spectrum that broadcasters have used for transmissions in “analog” format so it can be used for public safety communications and advanced wireless services.

For consumers who have analog TV sets that receive over-the-air broadcast stations using a rooftop, or “rabbit ears” antenna, knowing what kind of TV set you own is very important. A “digital television receiver” (i.e., one with an internal digital tuner) will allow you to continue to watch free over-the-air programming using rabbit ears or a rooftop antenna after February 17, 2009. However, if you have an analog television you will need a digital-to-analog converter box to continue to watch broadcast TV stations on that set.

To help consumers with the DTV Transition, the Federal Government established the Digital-to-Analog Converter Box Coupon Program. Every U.S. household is eligible to apply for up to two coupons, worth $40 each, toward the purchase of eligible digital-to-analog converter boxes. For more information on the coupon program, visit the NTIA’s website at www.dtv2009.gov or call 1-888-388-2009 (voice) or 1-877-530-2634 (TTY). Coupons will no longer be distributed after March 31, 2009 and will no longer be accepted after July 1, 2009.

There are many sources of information about the digital transition including the federal government’s website www.dtv.gov and the Broadcast Digital Television Coalition’s website www.DTVtransition.org.

September 17 Intradistrict Meeting
Thank you to all who attended the intradistrict school meeting on September 17. Gill had a fairly good showing of 96 voters.

The evening began with a proposal from the Gill Montague Regional School District to maintain the 1/12 budget the Commissioner of Education set, with the caveat that the towns’ assessments would not rise above a certain level. This level would have created the need for a $189,325 override in Gill (or serious cuts to services) and would have force Montague to also hold an override vote or to dip into its reserves. That proposal was defeated by a 4 to 1 margin.
The second proposal put before voters was one endorsed by the Select boards and Finance Committees in both Gill and Montague. The figure proposed followed the state’s logic for funding the district. Since the state provided the district with a 0.9% increase, the towns should only be asked to provide that much as well. It would have meant a $141,193 override or cuts to services in Gill. This proposal failed by only one vote, 114 to 113.

The third, and final proposal for the evening, was one that required no override or cuts to services in Gill and no override or use of reserves in Montague. However, it was a figure less than what the district received last year. This proposal failed by a large margin.

At 10:00 PM, Montague Moderator Ray Godin called for a motion to adjourn the meeting and was obliged. The School Committee now must reconsider its proposal and call another intradistrict meeting to vote on it.

If the two towns and School Committee cannot agree on a budget by December 1, the state Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) will “step in.” We’re not sure what that means exactly. Even DESE isn’t sure what it means because they have never had to implement the regulation. Town officials are concerned that it means the towns will be committed to the 1/12 budget that DESE set in the first place, which, as I mentioned above, means a $189,325 override for Gill.

We expect the School Committee to schedule the next intradistrict meeting within the next few weeks. Please read the papers and look for notices and signs around town informing you of the date and time. And please attend!

New Chapter 61/61A Land Values

The Massachusetts Department of Revenue has established new methods for valuing land enrolled in Chapter 61 and certain categories of land enrolled in Chapter 61A. Beginning this tax year, Fiscal Year 2009, land covered by the DOR’s changes will be valued at $173 per acre. Previously, chapter land values were set at 5% of fair market value. Each parcel of chapter land will be affected differently by these changes. The new values will appear on the Actual tax bills which will be mailed later this year. Anyone with questions should contact the assessors at 863-0138 or assessors@gillmass.org

Personal Property

The Assessor’s Office is currently working on the final phase of the recollection of data by visiting Gill businesses to make a thorough and accurate listing of all personal property in Gill. This also includes all furnishings in second homes. Representatives from Mayflower Valuation Ltd., who will be carrying photo identification, are conducting the visits.

Property Record Cards Available Online

The assessors wish to remind everyone that all property record cards are now online and can be viewed through a link on the Town of Gill’s website, www.gillmass.org. As part of this opportunity, there is an option to have a photograph associated with each card. We mention this so that you will know what is happening if you see someone from the Assessor’s Office out with a camera. A photo has nothing to do with valuation; it only makes our records more complete and useful. When we are in the office, it is very helpful to be able to visualize the homes and properties we are discussing. As the saying goes, “A picture is worth a thousand words.”

Invitation To Bid

The town of Gill will accept sealed bids for the sale of a 2003 Ford Crown Victoria Police Cruiser until October 27th 2008 at 4 PM in the Selectmen’s office, Gill Town Hall, 325 Main Road, MA. The vehicle’s mileage is approximately 85,000. The vehicle may be seen at the Gill Highway Department by calling (413) 625-8200 to schedule an appointment.

Gill Arts and Crafts Festival

Gill residents should make a note to attend the 16th Annual Arts and Crafts Festival on October 18th and 19th at the old Riverside School on route 2 (54 French King Highway). There you will be able to browse through booths of fine arts and crafts and choose from among hundreds of distinctive hand-crafted items. Meet and talk with the artists. Join featured artists at demonstrations and hands-on activities for both adults and children. Explore the produce wagons that reflect Gill’s rich agricultural history with local produce, apple cider, honey, jams, spice mixes, and cheeses. Enjoy the fall foliage at its height, the crafts, the food, and the fun.

Gather around the music tent for a varied selection of Celtic and folk music; on Saturday from 2 to 4 PM, the Fall Town String Band; on Sunday from 12 to 2 PM, Jeff Martell; and from 2 to 4 PM, TJ Ezold of the Corner Boys.

Antiques appraisals will be available on Saturday from 11 AM to 2:00 PM. Bring up to three items for appraisal: $10 for the first item and $5 for the second and third.

Susan LaScala will be available at a time to be announced to sign copies of her beautifully written book, Small Wonder, the fascinating story of the miraculous survival of her premature baby girl weighing one pound and nine ounces at birth.

Eight Gill farms will be represented at the Fair. Among those, Daniel Botkin of the Laughing Dog Farm will be present on Sunday from 10 AM to 4 PM. Daniel is a long time organic farmer and permaculture advocate in Gill who believes that the most truly local food originates in one’s own backyard. He teaches workshops on organic methods, goat husbandry, hoop house design, winter farming, heirloom seeds, and seed saving. He sells gourmet vegetables, herbs, fruits, and flowers at the Greenfield Farmers Market. Join him for a spirited discussion about raising your own organic food.

The Historical Commission is planning some new exhibits including items from the Clesson and Ruth (Cook) Blake estate. Walt Congdon, a retired NMH science teacher, will be available for information about alternative energy. Walt’s home in Northfield is powered almost entirely by solar panels and windmills.

The members of Boy Scout Troop 6 will be present to help in setting up and assisting crafters. They will also be sponsoring a raffle for camping equipment and taking orders for popcorn and Christmas wreaths.

Gill Fire Department

NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

October 5-11 is National Fire Prevention Week. Students in the Gill Elementary School and local preschools will participate in fire safety activities with members of the Gill Fire Department. A Student Awareness of Fire Education (S.A.F.E.) grant from the Massachusetts Department of Fire Services funds this year’s activities for children, which include pamphlets and other handouts, educational videos, “hands-on” training, and S.A.F.E. T-shirts for participants.

National Fire Prevention Week is a great time to review your family’s plans in case of fire or other emergencies. Please take the time to read the safety pamphlets with your children. Most of this vital safety information pertains to adults, too. Fire Prevention Week is also a good time to check the batteries in your smoke alarms. Be sure to check carbon monoxide detectors as well. Remember, early warning systems save lives, and they should work properly before the heating season. Please call the fire station at 863-8955 if you have questions about smoke alarms or carbon monoxide detectors.

CHIMNEY FIRES

Many Gill families heat their homes with wood and they should be aware of potential chimney fires. Most chimney fires occur because of a build-up of creosote, a tarry by-product of burning wood. Have your chimney flue cleaned before each heating season. You should burn only dry, well-seasoned hardwood to reduce the accumulation of creosote. Don’t use flammable liquids to start a fire. Never leave children unattended near the stove. Check that the damper is open before lighting the fire. A closed damper will result in an accumulation of smoke and carbon monoxide in the home, so do not close the damper until the fire is out and the embers are cold. Use a fireplace screen to prevent flying sparks and embers from falling out on to the floor. Install and maintain smoke detectors and carbon monoxide alarms to provide protection for your family.
TIPS FOR THE SAFE USE OF WOOD, COAL, AND PELLET STOVES
Before you purchase a wood or coal heating stove, make sure that it has approval from Underwriter’s Laboratories Inc. or another recognized independent testing lab. A building permit must be obtained prior to the installation of fireplaces, fireplace inserts, wood, coal, or pellet burning stoves and the installation must be inspected by the local building inspector prior to its initial use as required by the Massachusetts State Building Code. Allow at least 36 inches of clearance around the appliance to prevent combustibles from coming into contact with heat sources. Solid fuel heating appliances cannot share a common flue with chimney flues utilized by other solid, fossil, or gas fired appliances. A qualified mason should inspect the chimney and flue before the stove is used. Cracks in the flue or mortar joints can allow flames and heated gases to extend into the structure.

HEATING SYSTEMS AND CARBON MONOXIDE
Heating systems are the primary source of carbon monoxide in homes. Install smoke alarms to warn of a fire, but also have carbon monoxide (CO) alarms in the home to warn of deadly fumes from a faulty furnace, fireplace and oven flue, or other venting problem. Both types of residential alarms are required by law in Massachusetts.

FIREMEN’S ASSOCIATION: FRUGAL GOURMETS
It has been known locally for some time that the Gill Firemen’s Association serves the best natural potato fries in the County. Once again, members of the public have an opportunity to satisfy their appetites at the Gill Firemen’s Association food booth during the Gill Fall Arts and Crafts Festival on October 18 and 19 at the Old Riverside School on Route 2. Association members will be selling hamburgers, cheeseburgers, hotdogs, chili, American chop suey, soda, coffee, and of course, those famous French fries.

ANNUAL HALLOWEEN PARTY
The Gill Firemen’s Association will hold its annual Halloween Party on Sunday, October 26, from 1 PM until 2:30 PM, at the Gill Fire Station. School-age children from Gill are invited to show their costumes and participate in games and fun activities hosted by firefighters. Prizes and treats are available for all participants.

Fluorescent Bulb Recycling
Have you switched all or some of the light bulbs in your home to the new energy-saving spiral bulbs, also known as compact fluorescent lights (CFLs)?
Great job! But you are not done yet. What are you going to do with that bulb when it burns out? Fluorescent light bulbs, including CFLs, should never be thrown in the trash because they contain mercury vapor. As of May 1, 2008 the DEP’s Mercury Management Act “prohibits any person, household, business, school, healthcare facility or state or municipal government from knowingly disposing of a mercury-added product.”
Straight fluorescent lamps with a “green-cap” claim to have low mercury content, but these lamps should also be recycled under the new mercury management law.

The good news is that it is easier than ever to dispose of fluorescent light bulbs. The Franklin County Solid Waste Management District has added 10 drop-off sites to its fluorescent lamp recycling program; recycling is now available at all transfer stations and some town halls within the District. To assist residents in properly disposing of fluorescent bulbs, the Gill town hall now has collection boxes. The fee for disposing of a compact, U- tube, or circle bulb is 50¢ each; the fee for disposing of a straight bulb is 50¢ for a 4’ lamp or $1 for an 8’ lamp.

Fluorescent light bulbs, or lamps, come in many shapes and sizes. Energy-saving compact fluorescents are now available in the traditional light bulb dome shape as well as twin tubes and the spiral twist bulb. Some other types of fluorescent bulbs are circular (circline) lamps, U-tubes, and straight lamps, which can be found in any length from two to eight feet.

Exercise caution when handling these bulbs, because if they break, the mercury vapor in the bulb is released and can be harmful to your health. If a fluorescent bulb breaks, open a window to ventilate the room, and then leave the room for 10-15 minutes to allow the mercury vapor to dissipate. On returning to the room, use a broom, NOT a vacuum, to clean up the broken bulb. The broken pieces should be placed in the trash. Since the mercury has escaped, they are no longer hazardous waste. If you notice a white powder, this is phosphorous. It can be placed in the trash with the broken pieces.

You may be wondering if CFLs are worth the extra effort. The Energy Star website (www.energystar.gov) claims that “Energy Star qualified bulbs use about 75 percent less energy than standard incandescent bulbs and last up to 10 times longer.” This energy conservation can translate into $30 in electricity savings over each bulb’s lifetime. Since CFLs save energy, less energy is drawn from coal-burning power plants. As coal is burned, power plants emit mercury, which pollutes rivers and lakes and makes fish unsafe to eat. By reducing energy use, CFLs actually save mercury from being emitted by coal fired power plants. Fluorescent lamps do not release mercury unless they are broken.

District residents may still bring fluorescent lamps to the annual Household Hazardous Waste Day, scheduled for September 13 in Charlemont, Montague, and Orange, or to the District’s Regional Household Hazardous Waste Sites. These “Super Sites” are located at the transfer stations in Bernardston, Colrain, and Conway. For more information on the sites, including hours and accepted materials, see www.franklincountypasteredistrict.org/supersites.html or call 413-772-2438. Slate Library News

Slate Library hosted a successful summer reading program over the last few months. Over 50 Gill children and their families enjoyed a variety of programs relating to the theme “Wild Reads at Your Library”. Events ranged from a Birds of Prey show by Wingmasters of Springfield to a puppet show by Rosalita’s Puppets from Boston. All had lots of fun and all events were very well attended.

Slate Library is now gearing up for its autumn story hour. Story hour is held each Friday morning from 10–11AM. A morning filled with stories, a snack and an art project offers parents and caregivers in Gill a chance to come together and socialize while promoting early literacy skills. Some upcoming story hour themes will be Apples, Acorns and Squirrels, Colorful Leaves and Furry Friends. We hope we see you there!
Gill Elementary School

The year has gotten off to a good start at Gill Elementary School. We welcomed several new staff, including Betsy Burnham at Second Grade, Sue Smith at Third Grade, Kelly Gobeil at Kindergarten, Steve Damon at Music, Ron Wood at Physical Education and Michelle Gregory, our new Resource Room Teacher. I am also new in the position of Principal, having spent the past 15 years as a school psychologist in both the Mohawk Trail and Frontier Regional School Districts. Our enrollment is at 132 students and this includes many new students whose families have chosen to send their children here. The Gill Elementary School has a reputation as a close-knit community with high academic standards and I am glad to see that the new staff and students have been so warmly welcomed. Over the summer we had to make some changes to the building in order to incorporate all of the new students. I encourage anyone who is interested to give me a call at school, 863-3255, and I would love to show you around.

I also want to thank Chief Hastings and his officers who helped us deal with parking issues during the first days of school. Many of the new students are arriving by car and this brought logistical challenges. I also want to thank Gene Beaubien who helped us with our first fire drill of the year. We have spent the first few weeks making a map of our school and plotting out all of the fire protection that we have in place. Did you know that we have 10 fire extinguishers throughout the school and alarm boxes in every single room?

During the Gill Fall Arts and Crafts Festival, the Gill School PTO will have a booth where they will be selling fresh maple cotton candy, homemade pastries and breads, scones and other delectables. The proceeds go towards their efforts to buy new playground equipment. Hope to see you there.

Rita Detweiler,
Principal at Gill Elementary School

Gill Historical Commission

The Gill Historical Commission meets on the third Tuesday of each month at 5:30 PM in the Riverside School on Route 2. The Commission maintains the Gill Museum in an effort to preserve the history of Gill; the Museum is open at advertised times as well as by appointment. The Commission continues to appreciate the memorabilia, stories, and photographs that many people share or donate in the interest of documenting and preserving the history of Gill. If you have information or questions about Gill and its history, please contact Kit Carpenter, Bev Demars, Stuart Elliott, Dick French, Bob Perry, Lynda Hodsdon-Mayo, or Pam Shoemaker.

The Commission has been busy this summer with the transcription and annotation of the mid-nineteenth century diaries of Mary Jane Elnora (Williams) Bardwell, Abigail Whitcomb, Joseph B. Marble, Chandler S. Munn, Loring Hale, and Simon Cady Phillips.

The diaries covering the 1860’s to the 1880’s record the activities and personalities of their writers and together give a detailed picture of life in our agrarian community. Three of the accounts cover the year of 1873 and interconnect on some occasions. The Munn, Marble, and Hale diaries record farm work and life at the north end (Munn Road), the south end (River Road), and west side (West Gill Road). The “Jennie” Bardwell diary of 1876 is the companion to her 1873 diary, which was found at an auction, transcribed, and put on-line by John and Janet Maggs in Conway. Like many other young women, Jennie boarded in Easthampton away from home and son, and worked in a button factory; her husband lived in Brattleboro and worked there and in Greenfield with railway freight. Simon Cady Phillips, living at the west end of South Cross Road, kept annual diaries, which have been preserved in the Blake estate. Phillips helped build the Gill Town Hall and was a selectman for a number of years. Married to Rossy Sophia (Ballard), Simon describes his carpentry work and social interactions with many Gill and Factory Hollow residents. When the transcribing, typing, and annotating is finished, the GHC will make the texts public so that the Gill community may better understand the way we were.

This excerpt from the Simon Cady Phillips 1868 diary illustrates the richness of these accounts. The annotations are not completed.

Gill Students

Molly R. Perry
Molly R. Perry, daughter of Robert and Ann Perry of West Gill Road, and valedictorian of the Turners Falls High School graduating class of 2008, will be spending her first semester as a college freshman abroad this fall. Molly, who is enrolled in the University of New Haven in Connecticut and majoring in Criminal Justice, was one of 20 students chosen from approximately 200 applicants selected to spend her first semester at Roehampton University in London.

According to the student handbook provided to Molly, “the English lifestyle is vastly different than here in the United States, and part of studying abroad is experiencing and being open to new things, communicating with people of different backgrounds, and understanding yourself and being able to manage your own affairs while in a foreign setting.” In real life this translates to shopping for groceries and cooking in your “flat” along with your room mates, some also from foreign countries, using a foreign currency, learning the ins and outs of a foreign mass transit system of busses and trains and “queuing up” (standing in line) for most all other activities. Molly noted after her first week in London that “queuing up” appears to be an English tradition. The academic scenario is also totally different from the system to which American secondary graduates are accustomed, as large lectures once or twice a week are followed by vast amount of the course work time spent in tutorials where tutors are responsible for teaching the material discussed in the lectures.

Molly left JFK airport on September 16th and will be returning home on December 20th. She will begin her second semester at the University of New Haven after the holiday break.

Molly is the third consecutive Gill student to graduate from Turner Falls High School as the graduating class valedictorian. Previous recipients include Ben Garber, Class of 2007, son of Ken and Janet Garber of South Cross Road, in his second year at Northeastern University and Molly’s older sister, Anna, Class of 2006 in her third year at the College of the Atlantic in Bar Harbor, Maine. These students, along with many others from the Town of Gill, both past and present, continue to populate the ranks of the National Honor Society, student government, academic Honor Roles and numerous athletic teams and community service oriented groups at their respective schools, both public and private. All of them demonstrate a continuing commitment to academic excellence, teamwork, good citizenship and serious preparation for the challenges of tomorrow. Proof that students from Gill are highly motivated and represent our community in a very positive manner.

Boy Scout Trip

Fifteen year old John Gundelfinger spent three weeks at Philmont Scout Reservation in Cimarron, New Mexico, with 31 other Boy Scouts this summer. Using their scouting skills, they hiked 60 – 70 miles for eleven days through the wilderness. Their food, which was mostly freeze dried, was left at various locations on the route. John is a patrol leader for Troop 9 in Northfield and earned merit badges for this adventure.
