Special Town Meeting Results

The Special Town Meeting on Monday, December 20th lasted just over 10 minutes as 22 registered voters quickly dealt with the 5 warrant articles.

Article 1 passed by unanimous vote and lowered our June town meeting appropriation for the Gill-Montague Regional School District by $38,121. This brings the Town's appropriation in line with the amount approved at the District-Wide meeting in November.

Article 2 was passed over. Both the Selectboard and Finance Committee recommended waiting until nearer to the end of the fiscal year to allocate money to pay for veterans' benefits.

Article 3 passed by unanimous vote and created & funded an Education Stabilization Fund. This fund is to be used "for the payment of assessments from or otherwise in support of the Gill Montague Regional School District and/or the Franklin County Technical School." Voters appropriated $38,121 into this fund.

Article 4 passed by unanimous vote and transferred $4,500 from Free Cash to the general Stabilization Fund. In June voters approved using money from the Stabilization Fund to purchase and install a dump body for the 1990 Highway truck, with the understanding that once Free Cash was certified, the money would be returned to Stabilization. This transfer covers most of the project's cost; there will most likely be another transfer requested at a future meeting for the remaining balance.

Article 5 passed by majority vote and allows Gill's restaurants and clubs with alcohol licenses to apply to the Selectboard for permission to serve alcohol from 10AM to noon on Sundays.

The complete minutes from the meeting are available on the Town website (www.gillmass.org) in the Documents section.

A Burning Desire

Burning season is from January 15–May 1, 2011. Burning brush requires a permit and can only be done during burning season. If a Gill resident would like to burn brush on a given day, please go to the website for Franklin County Burn Permits (www.fcburnpermits.com) and complete the online permit. If you don't have computer access, please call 625-8200, and Shelburne Control will assist you.

Broadband Internet

Governor Deval Patrick created the Massachusetts Broadband Institute (MBI), a division of the Massachusetts Technology Collaborative (MTC), when he signed the Broadband Act into law in August 2008. The mission of the MBI is to extend affordable high-speed Internet access to all homes, businesses, schools, libraries, medical facilities, government offices and other public places across our state. The MBI is collecting information about high-speed internet availability throughout the Commonwealth. This information will be used to create state and national maps of broadband availability. The maps will be used to identify unserved and underserved areas that need additional resources.

As a citizen, you can contribute important information about services available at your home or business. Take MBI's broadband survey to tell them if you have access to high-speed internet and what service you use. Follow the link on the homepage of Gill's website (www.gillmass.org). For more information about the MBI visit www.mass-broadband.org.

Winter Parking Ban in Effect

After the street-clogging snow-storm of January 12th, it seems worth repeating... there is NO on-street parking allowed between the hours of 1AM and 6AM November 1 through April 15.

Carbon Monoxide Alarms

Carbon Monoxide is known as the Odorless Killer because it is a poisonous gas that has no visible color, taste, or odor. Each year, many people die or are injured from accidental carbon monoxide poisoning. CO alarms are intended to provide the early warning signs that smoke alarms provide in fires. Recent changes in Massachusetts law require that smoke detectors and carbon monoxide alarms be installed on every level of the home, including habitable portions of basements and attics. On levels with sleeping areas, carbon monoxide alarms should be installed within ten feet of bedroom doors. Levels of the home that do not have inhabitable living spaces are not required to have CO alarms. Landlords must install and maintain CO alarms in every dwelling unit that has a source of carbon monoxide, like a furnace or attached garage. More information about smoke detectors and carbon monoxide alarm requirements is available online at www.gillma.org. Follow the link to the Fire Department page. Call the Fire Department at 863-8955 if you need further information on smoke detectors or carbon monoxide alarms.

Brush Permit Season

Brush burning season runs from January 15 to May 1, 2011. Gill residents who wish to burn brush, sticks, or fallen tree limbs may apply for a permit online at www.fcburn-permits.com. Gill residents without computer access may call the regional dispatch center at 625-8200 to obtain a permit. Fires must be at least 75 feet from buildings, contained, and attended. Residents may not burn trees, logs, stumps, leaves, trash, or demolition materials. Fires must begin before noon and be completely extinguished before 4 PM. Call the Fire Department at 863-8955 if you need further information on burn permits.

Gill Energy Commission

The Gill Energy Commission will be holding a FREE Winsert (insulated window insert) Workshop on Saturday, February 26, 1-4PM at the Gill Town Hall, 325 Main Road, Gill. "Winserts" are reusable transparent wooden panels that fit snugly inside window jambs to add two extra layers of glazing. The workshop will be presented by Brian Nugent who has been teaching winserts workshops for over 4 years. Brian says with a properly-constructed winsert, heat loss from a typical single- or double-glazed window will be reduced by up to 50%, thus more than paying for the cost of the

The winserts can be used for many heating seasons with a little maintenance from time to time. Winserts require some basic woodworking equipment and skills to make, particularly in the construction of the frame. All materials needed are available in local hardware stores. Please bring a tape measure, hair dryer, sharp knife, hand screwdriver, drill, staple gun or small nails for attaching plastic tabs and/or hand saw if possible.

Thinking about the importance of the Connecticut River and ferries in Gill's history, we have chosen excerpts from a piece Emma Barton wrote in January 1938.

The first white settlers in our Connecticut Valley came up the river by boat; later as news of the wonderful fertility of the river lands reached the settlers on the seaboard, they came through the wilderness. The only means of transportation was on horseback or by oxen teams.

The smaller streams could be forded, but when the Connecticut was reached, a different problem was presented. With ingenuity and determination, the settlers built boats or rafts, and established ferries. (For example, in Gill, Munn's Ferry, Stacy's later Morgan's Ferry, and Stebbin's,) In most cases, the ferries were named for their managers, but sometimes took the name of the locality as the "hockanum" between that section of Southampton and Northampton. . . . The ferries were mostly operated by wires stretched across the stream, but one by steam power and also one of chain and swing, are mentioned in records.

The old time ferryman and his duties are well described by Herbert C. Parsons's history of Northfield, A Puritan Outpost. The Ferry was a social institution. Its ferryman was the repository of all the news, was in everybody's confidence, an authority on events recent and remote, local and national, inescapably a philosopher. The craft was a flat boat capable of carrying as many as four carriages when skillfully interlapped. A stout wire anchored on each shore passed through two posts on the up-stream side of the boat and a small pulley wheel on each kept down their friction. The ferryman carried a mallet shaped wooden implement with a deep slot to slip over the wire. He was the motor. Gripping the wire at the front post he walked the length of the boat thus propelling it by just as long a distance as he walked. His mastery of the process was such that his conversation with his fares was unbroken.

. . . At Bissell's Ferry, above the Falls, crossing near round hill in Riverside, Remington, the ferryman in 1820, was crossing a man horse, and a pair of oxen in flood time; the ferry overturned, and both men were drowned, the boat and animals carried over the dam; the yoke broke, and the horse and one ox landed on the shore below with the remaining ox floating to the small island near the mouth of Fall River. His bellowing disturbed the whole neighborhood for several days until the water receded enough to allow his rescue.

The ordinary way of signaling the ferryman was by blowing a tin dinner horn, which was hung on a post near the landing. . . . A bell was hung on a small building at Stebbins Ferry, but the usual method was a "Hello Boat" shouted loudly by the waiting passengers.

The last ferry to be put in operation was 1834 when John Munn petitioned for a road. The request was granted on condition that he maintain a ferry, which he and his descendants continued for many years. The revenue from toll during the later years was so small that the towns had to furnish the boat and pay a yearly bonus to the ferryman. The last boat in use here was brought up from Morgan's Ferry, which crossed to Northfield Farms, when that was discontinued about 1915; the boat continued in service at Munn's Ferry until the fall of 1935. . .

The coming of the automobile was the death blow to several of the local ferries as the detour necessary to reach a bridge was considered preferable to waiting for the slow crossing and driving up and down the steep and sandy banks to say nothing of the toll charges. Thus another relic of the old horse and buggy days has passed. The good old times of which we often speak, but would not enjoy living in, had more privations than the comforts of modern times.

THE FRIENDS OF GILL

Will Spring ever come? According to the calendar the first day of Spring is Sunday March 20th. Most likely there will still be snow on the ground on Saturday the 26th but come join the friends of Gill as they celebrate the change of season with their annual Pancake Breakfast in the Gill Congregational Church from 8 to 10:30AM.

The Friends of Gill are known throughout the valley for serving the best pancakes in Franklin County. There will also be plenty of made-in-Gill maple syrup, sausage, coffee, milk, and orange juice. The room is always alive with friendly conversation so be sure to put the date on your calendar.
